WELCOME TO

It's who we are and what we're about. It's about doing things right, being innovative, working with others, being a leader and a good neighbor.

We're The Maschhoffs. In 1851, our ancestors came to this area and began a family farming tradition. Today, we manage one of the largest family-owned pork farming networks in the United States, producing enough pork to feed eight million consumers annually.

We're proud to be a progressive force working with family farmers across the Midwest. If you are interested in joining our network of family pork farmers, please see Production Partnerships.
