

Production Director Field, Slovakia

'LET'S GROW TOGETHER'

FirstFarms in West Slovakia has chosen to strengthen the organisation's operation and development and established a new position as Production Director Field.

Therefore, we are looking for a skilled agricultural manager to successfully operate the cultivation of 9,500 hectares of arable land.

The crop cultivation includes the production of quality feed for FirstFarms' dairy and pig production farms, as well as specialty crops for sale in local food and agricultural markets.

Production Director Field Leader of the Production and 55 Team Members

As the Production Director Field, you will be responsible for running the core business with leadership and personnel responsibilities to ensure optimal operation in both the growth and off seasons.

In this position, you will report directly to COO Søren G. Nielsen. 7 middle managers within crop production and workshop, agronomists, and the responsible person for spare parts and grain storage, will report to you.

Passionate Crop Grower and IT Enthusiast

Professionally, the right person is an expert in crop cultivation, production planning, and logistics execution, making decisions based on knowledge, analysis, and data.

Production Director Field stays updated with opportunities in precision agriculture, in new cultivation methods and climateadapted solutions. The administrative tools are cloud-based IT management programmes such as Microsoft Office, especially Excel.
